June 25, 1982

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to San Francisco and welcome to Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights' Second Annual Symposium on health care issues affecting gay men and lesbians.

Our program has been designed to provide accurate and up-to-date information on a variety of medical and psychological topics. To accomplish this objective our faculty has been chosen because of their expertise in a particular area, and because of their experience and work with various segments of the gay community.

It should be kept in mind that the "gay community" is composed of extremely diverse elements. Many of these elements have little in common except their sexual orientation. Even that is not precisely the same for all individuals labelled as "homosexual". The failure to recognize this diversity has often resulted in stereotyping of gay individuals. In medicine, observations or research on small populations may often be inappropriately accepted as representative of all gay men and lesbians. Participants in this Symposium are urged to exercise care in making generalizations about gay men and lesbians and in evaluating the applicability of findings of our speakers to the "gay community".

Our educational efforts on the subject of homosexuality will be greatly enhanced by your participation in this program. There will be time for questions and discussion following each presentation. Your evaluation of this program is particularly important to us in determining educational needs and formats which will be of value in the future.

On behalf of Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights, I hope that you will find this program a rewarding educational experience and your stay in San Francisco a rewarding personal experience.

Sincerely,

James Krajeski, M.D.
Symposium Chairperson

UPDATE ON SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED DISEASES IN GAY MEN - 1982

A BIBLIOGRAPHY

Note: The following references have been selected because they are pertinent to the topic of sexually transmitted diseases in gay men and they were published during the past twelve months. References dealing with hepatitis, prostatitis, anorectal problems and immune deficiency states in gay men are discussed elsewhere in the symposium. Older references dealing with sexually transmitted diseases in gay men are listed in the paper by Owen, "Sexually Transmitted Diseases and Traumatic Problems in Homosexual Men" (Ann Intern Med 1980; 92:805-8). Newer references on sexually transmitted diseases not specifically related to gay men may be found in the annotated bibliography published semimonthly in the British Journal of Venereal Diseases.
